 - (b) Which industry participants were consulted on recommendations to improve the regulation of combat sports in NSW?
 - (c) What legislative amendments to support the continued growth and maturity of the sector in NSW were supported by stakeholders?

Answer

(a) and (b) These issues were consulted collectively.

A survey was conducted in which we received 28 anonymous responses.

In addition to this, consultation sessions were held with:

- Combat Sports Inspectors
- Attending Medical Practitioners
- League Boxing Inc – NSW
- World Boxing Council
- International Mixed Martial Arts Federation of Australia
- International World Kickboxing Federation
- World Association of Kickboxing Organisations
- Australian Mixed Martial Arts Sports Association
- International Mixed Martial Arts Federation Australia

- Australian National Boxing Federation (NSW Branch)
- Australian National Boxing Federation
- Combat Sports Commission, Western Australia
- Sport and Recreation, Victoria
- Office for Recreation and Sport, South Australia.

(c) Stakeholders supported reforms relating to:

- Increased capacity for referees, doctors and Combat Sports Inspectors to suspend bouts to conduct concussion and serious head injury inspections, and to end bouts if necessary
- Improved training in how to recognise significant concussion and serious head injury and making this a registration requirement
- Appropriate medical equipment to be on hand and training to doctors in how to use it
- Improved rules around medical clearances and suspensions
- A reduction in registration categories
- Increased use of online systems for registration and the managing of medical records
- A public register of combatants to facilitate matchmaking
- Matchmaking guidelines
- Clarifying key regulatory terms such as: Professional, Amateur, exhibition contests and sparring
- Facilitation of participation by interstate or international combatants and referees.

(b) Athletes, coaches and officials can contact the Australian Sports Foundation or their national/state sporting organisation who can help with fundraising to raise money to assist with travel costs.

Australian national teams

137. At the hearing on 1 September the CEO of the NSW Institute of Sport said “NSWIS runs programs for eight of the 19 [Commonwealth Games] sports” (Hansard, p54). Is it appropriate that less than half of Commonwealth Games sports are supported at NSWIS?

138. At the hearing on 1 September the CEO of the NSW Institute of Sport said “We have 15 sport programs that are all competed at the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games.” (Hansard, p54). Given that there are over 40 Olympic sports, is it appropriate that only about a third of Olympic Games sports are supported at NSWIS?

Answer to 137 and 138

The NSW Institute of Sport (NSWIS) undertakes a sport inclusion process each Olympic and Paralympic cycle aligned with the national high performance system sport investment process led by the Australian Institute of Sport. National Sporting Organisations are invited to provide a submission to NSWIS that is assessed against clear criteria. Individual scholarships are available for categorised athletes from sports outside of the sports included in each cycle.

Each NSWIS sport program requires a range of support services (coaching, sport science, sport medicine, program management) and operational support (training camp, competitions, access to daily training venues, equipment) which have to be managed within finite resources.

139. In relation to the NSWIS Business Plan target of 25% representation of national teams each year for the sport programs it supports:

- (a) What new initiatives have been introduced?
- (b) What sports have been prioritised?
- (c) What additional funding has been made available?
- (d) Why is the chosen target less than the 31.8% of the Australian population who live in NSW?
- (e) Will any additional sports be introduced at NSWIS?

Answer

- National Archery Program (recurve & para)
- Combat Sports Program
- Narrabeen Sports Hub including a Triathlon development program
- Newcastle Swimming Hub

- Talent radar pilot project (in collaboration with South East Sports Academy)
- National Generation 2032 Coaching Program
- Development of the National Snowsports Training Centre at Jindabyne

(b)

Every four years NSWIS undertakes a sport investment process. The outcome of this review determines which sports NSWIS will support, and partner with, in preparation for the next Olympic and Paralympic Games cycle.

Sports are invited to submit a partnership proposal to NSWIS that is then assessed based on current AIS Sport categorisation and clear criteria aligned with the national high performance system.

For the 2020-24 cycle NSWIS operates the following sport programs:

Athletics	Athletics Australia; Athletics NSW
Water Polo - Women's	Water Polo Australia; Water Polo NSW
Winter Sports	Olympic Winter Institute; Snow Australia; Perisher & Thredbo Ski Resorts; Jindabyne Sport & Recreation Centre/Office of Sport

- (a) How many submissions were received regarding potential names?
- (b) Was there a shortlist regarding potential names?
 - i. If so, what were those names?
 - ii. Who was responsible for compiling the shortlist?
- (c) What authority/agency or Minister was responsible for ultimately choosing the name Bradfield?
 - i. What criteria was used to determine the name?

Answer

From 16 August to 20 September 2020, community members were invited to submit a suggested name for the first stage of the Aerotropolis Core Precinct.

The community was invited to submit suggestions for a name/s, which reflected one or more of the following themes:

- Embrace themes of innovation, industry, science and technology
- Endeavour to be aspirational
- Reflect the vibrant and dynamic culture and society of the Western Parkland City
- Reflect the local heritage or history of the Western Parkland City
- Be of national significance

- Convey a strong connection to the unique natural environment of the Western Parkland City
- Recognise people who have contributed to the creation and promotion of NSW.

Over 4,150 suggestions were received.

A Government Naming Committee was established to consider the community's suggestions. The Committee comprised the then Premier, then Minister for Jobs, Investment, Tourism and Western Sydney, then Secretary of the Department of Premier and Cabinet and the Chair of the Western Parkland City Authority.

The name 'Bradfield' was selected by the Government Naming Committee as the preferred name. It was considered that Bradfield best represented the aspiration for an innovative, world-class city focused on advanced manufacturing, technology, education and research.

The announcement of the preferred name was made on 16 March 2021.
